The trade show booth is a large, curved structure with a black metal frame. It features a central white diamond-shaped panel with the company logo and name. The background is divided into four main sections: a blue section on the left with a grid pattern and two inset photos of a training facility; a green section in the center with a grid pattern and a photo of an oil pumpjack; a brown section on the right with a grid pattern and a photo of a railcar tanker; and a dark green section at the bottom with a grid pattern and a photo of a facility at night. The text is printed in white and black, and the phone number is printed in white on the brown section.
